Redistricting Plans For County Schools Begin. Meetings Set

A study on the redistricting of San Mateo County's school districts has been completed and the survey committee plans to start its next step in a few weeks.

The next step, as explained by George Davis, chairman of the survey committee, is to hold meetings with representatives of various school districts in an effort to reach agreement on what the new boundaries are to be.

Davis said that a representative of each board of trustees will join the committee to consider local problems.

The redistricting, authorized by the state legislature, is being handled by the survey committee, which is to determine:

Whether it is feasible or would be economical to redistrict present school districts, unify districts in some areas, or make other reorganizations.

This could be in the form of consolidation of small districts, annexation of small to large districts, or the unification of coincidental districts, such as those of high schools and elementary schools in the same area.

Davis, in his progress report, explained that after the conferences with local school authorities a report will be made to the regional survey committee.

If the local committee's plans are approved by the regional commission, the county superintendent of schools will call a special election, at which the voters will adopt or reject the committee's recommendation.

Davis stated that if the plan is turned down by the electors, another resurvey would follow, with a second election scheduled the following year.

A "yes" vote, of course, would complete the reorganization.

When approved, the reorganization is to become effective on the July 1 after the election.

According to Supt. of Schools Pansy J. Abbott, the election in San Mateo County probably will be between June and November.

If the election is held in June, the redistricting would become effective this July 1. Otherwise the reorganization would not be effective until a year later.

After the redistricting election, another election will be held to select a governing board for the new district. The election date, according to law, shall be not later than the fourth Friday of January after the formation of the new district.

Students Near Median in Test

Sequoia sophomores obtained a median score of 74.6 compared to national median of 76 in the California Progressive Language Test given last fall, Dr. Earl Peckham, curriculum director, announced today.

The test was given to 546 sophomores by Sequoia teachers, Peckham said, declaring that the purpose of the test was guidance and not "to prove anything."

Peckham said he could not say whether the results of the test bore out the findings of Dr. John C. Almack of Stanford University that Sequoia students were below average in English.

"We have evidence that Sequoia students are above average in some tests so I wouldn't say that this test proved Dr. Almack's findings," he said.

Peckham said the test has been helpful to teachers in discovering certain weaknesses and strengths in the students' work.

Pair Sent to San Quentin In Bogus Check Conviction

Two Negro bunco artists who have been straining at the leash to get into San Quentin prison finally had their wishes carried out late yesterday.

The men, Oliver Rogers, 28, of San Francisco, and Ashton Bihms, 30, of Richmond, were sentenced by Superior Judge Edmund Scott.

A week ago, when the pair pleaded guilty to a grand theft charge, they were taken aback when the judge told them he could not sentence them immediately, that he had to refer the case to the probation officer.

"I'm sorry I have to do this," the judge told Rogers and Bihms yesterday. "But you behave yourselves and try to become good citizens."

The two men had admitted fleeing a Redwood City woman of $800 in a "pigeon drop" bunco, using a supposedly "found" wallet as a basis to get the victim to put up her savings as "security."

They were anxious to get to San Quentin, the men told the prosecuting attorney, in order to learn a trade.

Judge Scott late yesterday also sent another man to San Quentin.

The judge denied probation for George Fancher, 40-year-old Palo Alto High School janitor who had pleaded guilty to a charge of lewd and lascivious conduct involving a 9-year-old girl.

Fancher's attorney, Wayne Millington, had pleaded that the janitor should be sent to a state hospital because of a diabetic condition.

The case of Raymond F. Heinze, construction company executive charged with felony drunk driving, was continued until next Monday, when the trial date will be set.

Heinze yesterday pleaded not guilty to the charge, which grew out of a collision between his automobile and a San Bruno police car driven by Officer Lawrence Pickett.

Nursery Industry Booming In SM County: Max Leonard

A tremendous growth in San Mateo County's nursery industry was reported today by County Agricultural Comr. Max J. Leonard in a preview of his annual report, which will be ready in another month.

Leonard cited as significant a shift in the nursery industry from the Bayshore to the Coastside areas, due primarily to the increasing costs of land in the more heavily populated areas.

When Leonard took the agricultural commissioner's job in 1932 he said less than five nurseries were operating on the Coastside. At present there are 32.

The nursery industry, the chief producers of agricultural wealth in the county, has boomed tremendously since 1940, Leonard reported. Seven years ago there were 293 nurseries and at the end of 1947 there were 433.

Leonard declared that the work of his staff has increased in proportion to the increase in population during that period. In 1940 his staff inspected 15,797 shipments of 2,880,000 plants as compared to 17,890 shipments of 3,668,000 plants last year. The inspections were made with the same sized staff, Leonard declared.

Inspections of produce, eggs and honey also show about a 75 per cent increase. In 1940 Leonard's aides made 301 market inspections, compared to the 441 last year. Production of eggs, which constitutes a large part of the work, has increased also, with 61,782 dozens inspected in 1940 and 84,800 dozens in 1946. He said the 1947 figures were not yet available.

Leonard released his preliminary report even as the board of supervisors was considering the construction of a new agricultural station at Pine and Heller Sts. The board last week postponed approval of preliminary plans, ordering a further cut in the cost of the building on the grounds that agricultural acreage has dropped in San Mateo County.

Bad Men of California... Not Missouri

While theater patrons viewed a picture called "Bad Men of Missouri," a lone bandit quietly held up the box office cashier of the Baywood Theater, San Mateo, and escaped with about $50 shortly after 9 p.m. Sunday.

The cashier, Beverly Brehmer, 18, of 121 Tilton Ave., San Mateo, described the man as "well dressed and well spoken," and San Mateo police said his physical description and method of operation is almost exactly the same as in other Peninsula theater robberies in the past six months.

Miss Brehmer told police the man first came to the box office and asked how much longer the show would last, then stepped back as some other customers approached the window. He waited until they bought their tickets and entered the theater, then removed his billfold from his pocket and handed the cashier a note which said: "This is a holdup. I have a gun. Don't move."

The cashier passed out all the loose money—approximately $50. Police said an exact figure would not be available until the management prepares its cash report.

Miss Brehmer said the holdup man kept up a running conversation about the pictures being shown and did not display a gun at any time during the robbery. When he had collected the money he turned and casually walked south on B St.

The cashier described him as about 30, light complexion, six feet tall, wearing a long grey overcoat, a grey hat and glasses.

Police said they received a teletype message, dated Jan. 6, from Santa Rosa police detailing the same physical description and same type of operation in a theater holdup there.

The method of operation and physical description also coincides with theater robberies in recent months in Palo Alto, San Carlos, Redwood City, San Bruno and San Mateo, according to San Mateo police. In no case has any of the victims seen a gun, police said.

The $50 taken by the bandit represented only the loose cash in the box office. An undisclosed amount of receipts in a locked safe was not disturbed.

South County Residents Urge Action on Bayshore Hwy. Signals

North Palo Alto residents late Tuesday asked the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors to build a fire under the State Division of Highways, which for nearly a year has been promising a traffic signal at a dangerous intersection on Bayshore Hwy.

The state has promised to install the traffic light, the county has contributed its share of $4000 toward the cost, but nothing has been done about it, William J. Gowans, 409 Laurel Ave., told the board.

Gowans presented a petition signed by 125 persons, who want the supervisors to ask the division of highways to get off the dime.

The intersection in question is at Bayshore Hwy., Willow Rd. and Bay Rd. The three roads come together at one point, creating about the same traffic hazard which exists at Five Points, on El Camino Real in the southern part of Redwood City.

"The intersection is the most dangerous crossing in San Mateo County," Gowans declared. "There have been at least 15 deaths there."

He explained that the veterans hospital in North Palo Alto has more than 900 employees, many of whom drive through the intersection to reach the East Bay via the Dumbarton Bridge.

Heavy traffic also results from the transfer of patients to and from the hospital.

Four or five school buses use the intersection daily, Gowans declared, and "if one is hit, a couple of children may be killed."

"Why should the state division of highways be so lax as not to put in those lights?" he demanded.

He explained that the total cost of the lights is $12,000, of which the county pays one-third and the state the rest. The county's share has been paid since last July, but no action has been taken.

"I think you should write a letter or take a couple of guns up there and shoot at them," he told the board. "We want action."

The supervisors instructed County Engineer M. A. Grant to write to the division of highways in an effort to speed installation of the lights.

The supervisors yesterday also approved preliminary architects plans for the new county agricultural building to be erected at Pine and Heller Sts. at an estimated cost of $41,880. The advisory board of architects was instructed to draw up detailed plans.

Named Francis Raymond of Burlingame to fill a vacancy on the County Traffic Safety Commission. The appointment was made by Supervisor Edward R. McDonald of Burlingame.

Gave approval to the hiring of another full-time man in the election registration department after County Clerk William H. Augustus pointed out that due to the county's growth 68 elections were scheduled for the first six months of 1948. The elections mostly involve the affairs of various districts, such as water, lighting and school districts.

Belmont Civic Group Backs Recreation Bond Proposal

The Belmont Civic Assn. this week voted almost unanimously in favor of endorsing the proposed $99,000 recreation bond issue, to be decided Feb. 3.

Ralph Read and Walter Truce upheld the defense of the recreation commission in the presentation of the issue to the civic group.

According to Lloyd Taft, all Belmont grievances were acknowledged by the two recreation representatives before the main issue could be decided.

"Let us not lose track of the main issue," said Taft, "and that is if we reject this opportunity for a recreational center, there is no other seven acre area even comparable to it in Belmont, and seven acres is the minimum area recommended for general recreational facilities."

In answer to a question on staffing such a proposed program, Read said that according to a study made on the Palo Alto recreational setup, $5000 per year was judged sufficient for a couple to live on the grounds as caretakers and direct a professional recreation program.

He felt that sufficient volunteer help, augmented by hourly paid help, would swing the program.

Much stress was put on the bad traffic location of the Pullman estate and the fact that two highways would have to be crossed in order to gain entrance to the center.

In answer, Read said that he did not consider that an insurmountable problem, but a good suggestion for incorporating some provision for an underpass in the proposed plans.

An estimate of the proposed expenditure was outlined by Taft in concurrence with an estimate given by the architect for the plan, Alfred Johnson.

No structural changes are necessary, according to Read, merely adaptation for recreational needs. That adaptation program was outlined as follows: $6000 for paving, leveling and grading the 25,000 square foot parking area; $9000 for the tennis courts; $5000 for sanitary facilities; $80,000 for the actual purchase of the property; and the remainder for baseball diamond, bleachers, knocking out existing partitions to make larger meeting spaces, and miscellaneous items. "If spent wisely," said Taft, "the whole thing could be done and have a surplus of $15,000 from the bond in the amount proposed."

First year's cost of maintenance is included in the bond, said James Ross, chairman of the association's board of directors.

After that, an accumulated sum from taxes for recreational activities, placed in the city treasury, will be used until the center can be self supporting from its own revenues, he said. The Pullman estate will be open every Sunday from 11 o'clock until 4 p.m., for public inspection, Robert Cushman, civic association president announced.

The association voted to call Senator Richard Dolwig to speak on the recreation program being outlined by the state, at its Jan. 23 meeting. The meeting will be open to the public and will be held in the Community Hall.

Two Dead, Nine Hurt in Two Train Collisions

By the Associated Press

Two persons were killed and at least nine others were injured today in train collisions in Arkansas and Tennessee, while all occupants of two planes with engine trouble landed safely at New York's LaGuardia Field and Nassau in the Bahamas.

The engineer of a westbound Rock Island Railroad passenger train and an unidentified Negro woman passenger were killed when the train collided head-on with an eastbound freight train on the outskirts of Little Rock, Ark. At least eight others were injured.

Only one of 80 passengers aboard the Hummingbird, fast northbound passenger train of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, was injured seriously enough to require a physician when the train hit the rear of a freight train near Wales, Tenn., shortly before midnight.

At New York's LaGuardia Field 29 passengers bound for Havana settled safely when a Constellation air liner of Venezuelan Airlines returned to the field. The pilot reported one of the plane's engines became overheated and landing gear difficulty had occurred.

Another emergency landing was made at Nassau after a DC-4 plane reported an engine fire while en route from San Juan, Puerto Rico, to Jacksonville, Fla.

Issue Permits For 70 Houses

The largest block of building permits issued since the first of the year was reported today by County Building Insp. A. W. Russell.

Russell stated that permits were issued for the construction of 70 houses by Stoneson Bros., San Francisco contractors. Each house was appraised at $8000, giving the whole block a value of $560,000.

Only the pilot and copilot were aboard, the Coast Guard said.

Meanwhile, at Wykes, Quebec, far in Quebec's frozen northland, unofficial estimates of the dead from the crash of two westbound passenger trains yesterday ran as high as 20. At least nine persons were known to be dead and 55 injured.

Jobs

—IN A SACK OF CEMENT
—IN A TON OF STEEL
—IN A MILE OF WIRE

1947 was a busy year of work and accomplishment for this company. Thousands of tons of cement, steel and wire have been set in place by labor in the field on scores of gas and electric projects throughout Northern and Central California.

Great construction projects, such as this company's $350,000,000 expansion program, begot jobs and spread millions of dollars through many payrolls. More than 1575 new employees were signed on with the P. G. and E. during the past year, while in the two-year period from August 1945 to October 1947 the company's payroll increased by 5845 employees. Private contractors working on P. G. and E. construction have an additional 2340 men in monthly average employment.

And beyond that are jobs in every sack of cement, every ton of steel and every mile of wire that was made or fabricated and handled and stored and unloaded at the job sites.

All of this construction money becomes constructive dollars of local wealth because it is made on the job and paid on the job in hundreds of communities in this area.

State Park Commission Gets McCarthy Plan For Acquisition of Butano Forest as Park

The California Park Commission has under consideration a San Mateo County proposal that condemnation proceedings be started for the acquisition of Butano Forest. Paul McCarthy of the County Historical Assn. has been informed.

The county's request is in the form of a resolution approved recently by the board of supervisors. The resolution was presented to the board by McCarthy, acting for the historical society.

McCarthy said that another step aimed at the Butano purchase would be taken Thursday night in the assembly hall of Mills Tower, San Francisco.

Three organizations are to discuss the possibility of staging a funds-raising campaign to aid in the cost, McCarthy declared. The groups are the Sierra Club, the Sempervirens Club, and the California Garden Clubs Inc.

The resolution approved by the supervisors makes a two-fold proposal:

1. It asks the park commission to start immediate condemnation proceedings for 4711 acres of Butano Forest, or for a smaller area, comprising 2240 acres of the more choice sections.

2. It offers county-owned Memorial Park to the state in lieu of matching funds, at a County Planning Commission appraisal of $305,000.

If the state does not wish to start condemning the whole 4711 acres of redwood timberland, the alternate proposal is to take the north half of Section 24, and all of Sections 14, 15 and 16. This area would include both forks of Butano Creek and the ridge lying between them. The area has access from both the north and south.

The financing outlined by state officials would mean that the state would pay for half of the total cost, up to $600,000. The county, or private agencies interested in preserving the redwoods, would put up the remainder.

The county can pay for its share either in cash or in matching forest lands. Memorial Park, if accepted by the state, would release $305,000 in state funds for the Butano purchase. There would be left in the kitty $295,000, to be matched by county or private funds.

McCarthy has suggested that in addition to Memorial Park, the supervisors put up about $50,000 in hard cash. This proposal is to be considered this Spring, when the 1948-49 budget is drawn.

Other counties, whose residents also would use Butano Forest when it becomes a park, will be asked to budget money toward the purchase.

Ravenswood School District Asks $146,931 for New Unit

Ravenswood Elementary School Dist. has submitted a revised request of $146,931 for a six-unit school in the Belle Haven area from the state's $200,000 impoverished school district fund, Paul H. Henry, superintendent, announced at a meeting of the board of trustees this week at the Ravenswood School.

The new request was ordered by the allocations division, State Department of Finance, which last month found an approximate total of $200,000 requested by impoverished districts. Old requests had been based on estimated needs in September, 1947. The new request is for present needs in January, 1948.

Henry said the Ravenswood School Dist. now has an enrollment of 1045 students and a need for five classrooms and one kindergarten in addition to present facilities.

The project the district wishes to finance is a school for kindergarten through sixth grade pupils. Cost of the school has been estimated at $173,880.80. The district has $26,949 available for construction purposes, Henry said.

Ravenswood had originally asked for $930,413 for two projects totaling 26 classrooms.

The board also directed George Gayer, clerk of the board, to meet with the teachers salary committee of the Ravenswood Teachers Assn.

SC Kiwanis Backs Recreation Bonds

The San Carlos Kiwanis Club this week went on record favoring a recreation bond issue to cover two new playgrounds, a gymnasium and a swimming pool. The action followed recommendations of P. T. Liddy, but only after strong arguments had been voiced for inclusion of an auditorium.

The club also voted $15 to Governor Warren's milk-for-Europe fund, and wrote a check in that amount to the Redwood City Junior Chamber of Commerce, which is conducting the campaign in this county.

Pres. Charles W. Metcalf announced that next week the club would meet at Villa Chartier in San Mateo.

Chairman for this week's meeting was Cutler Brown, who introduced Ray Spangler, editor and publisher of the Redwood City Tribune. Spangler outlined the history of San Mateo County government.

Mrs. Schindler's Will Filed Here

The will of Mrs. Beulah Schindler, 753 Acacia Dr., Burlingame, was filed for probate in superior court here last week.

Mrs. Schindler, society editor of the San Mateo Times, died Dec. 19, two hours after the death

Papers Served In School Suit

Papers were served this week on three members of the Redwood City Elementary School Board of Trustees in connection with a suit filed by 12 Atherton residents seeking to have the school board relinquish the controversial school site on Selby

Ln., which the board purchased last Spring.

Supt. Andrew Spinas said today that the new court action would not affect the $508,000 bond issue proposed by the board. Spinas said the bond issue would include raising money to build a school in Atherton, but added that the site is not mentioned.

Residents living near the school site have twice previously sought to force the school to abandon the site, which was purchased from Realtor John Wickett. Wickett was also named in the suit filed last week.

Parked Cars Get Blame In Fire Loss

San Carlos firemen last night were halted for five minutes by cars parked in front of fire hydrants at the scene of a blaze resulting in $1500 damage, according to Fire Chief Lyle Clark.

Clark said the fire was in a storage shed at the home of Donald L. Leavitt, 64 Belvedere Ave. Contents of the storage room, estimated by Clark at a value of $1000, were destroyed. Damage to the shed was set at $300, and to adjoining buildings at $200.

Firemen responded to the call at 6:10 p.m., Clark said, but upon arrival at the scene found automobiles completely blocking off equipment from the access to the closest fire hydrant. The fire fighters were even forced to move a car from in front of a fire hydrant a block away before they could use it, according to the chief.

"We were seriously handicapped by the public," Clark declared. "They were in our way and in our hair." Clark estimated the crowd at more than 200, adding that a five minute delay was caused by the parked cars.

Clark announced that in the future citations will be issued to any person interfering with the fighting of a fire in San Carlos. The chief today warned residents to stay away from fire hydrants and equipment at any future fires, pointing out that delay caused by such interference could cause serious loss of property or life.

Cause of last night's fire is unknown. Clark said that the flames were brought under control in about 15 minutes although mopping up operations took about two hours.

Clark said the garage and wall of an adjoining house on Elm St. were scorched and that windows in the Leavitt home were cracked by the heat of the flames.

Sequoia Board Meet Postponed

The meeting of the Sequoia High School Board of Trustees scheduled for Friday night has been postponed until Jan. 25 so that board members can meet with Dr. John C. Almack of Stanford University to discuss the school building program, according to Supt. A. C. Argo.

Argo said that a special meeting with Dr. Almack will not be held because there is not enough business before the board at present to take up a full meeting.

The board last month decided to meet with Almack to discuss the school's building program after Supt. Argo proposed a $990,000 bond issue to enlarge the Sequoia plant, followed by a second bond issue to build a high school in the Menlo Park area.

Autopsy Slated In Baby's Death

An autopsy was to be held this afternoon to determine the cause of death of a 7-month-old baby found dead in its crib in San Carlos this morning.

The infant, Daniel Joseph Kelly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kelly, appeared to be all right when put to bed last night but was found dead this morning at the family residence, 474 Emerald St., San Carlos.

Little Daniel Joseph was the brother of Terry and Paul Kelly and grandson of Mrs. Joseph P. Kelly of San Carlos and of Judge and Mrs. William Healy.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 10 a.m. at the Layng & Tinney Funeral Home. Interment will be at Holy Cross Cemetery.
